

SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Well, here we go again. It would seem that of all the much nicer things to write about in this column we should resist taking a pop at someone or something, but its nice to have an outlet for the ire which is raised over the continuance of Truckeeites taking Truckee earned money and rushing out of town to spend it. Our attention has been called to some instances where local people go so far as to solicit the merchants for funds to carry out some endeavor of their own design, seeking money for this or that cause, generally a worthy one, but at the same time failing to see the importance of patronizing those same merchants, if the latter is to continue to be able to support the various community enterprises. Your hometown merchant, whether you realize it or not, is the foundation of your community and provides the center in which you live and earn your livelihood. It is certainly unfair to him to ask and accept donations for community building and then virtually take away from him the little profit he might make on the same goods at the same price which you buy elsewhere. If it meant a great saving to you or if you have no other interest in the town than just a place to exist, there would be a reason, but if you expect the Truckee businessmen to continue to support the numerous civic enterprises which he is called upon to do, then you should play the game.

"The biggest and best Legion dance ever held in Truckee." Such was the opinion expressed by any number who attended the Armistice Day observance dance held last Saturday night. Despite predictions to the contrary, the 100 or more couples conducted themselves in an orderly manner, thoroughly enjoyed the good time which was recorded and left well satisfied with the evening's entertainment. If other dances, sponsored by some of the out of town orchestras could have the same atmosphere they would have our support.

The real spirit of fraternalism is exemplified by two Tahoe City men. Joe Henry and Norman Mayfield, members of the Truckee Lions club, who seldom, if ever, miss a meeting, despite stress of personal business, illness or inclement weather. We wonder how many of the Truckee members would drive 35 or 40 miles every week to attend a meeting regardless of the nature. At that the meetings are worth the effort, but local members often overlook that fact.

The dispatch with which A. M. Richardson started building to replace his Lake Tahoe resort, which was destroyed by fire last week and the enterprise of Carl Bechtolt in rebuilding the tavern at Hirschdale are only two of the many examples of the alertness and progressiveness of the Tahoe businessmen, who sense the increased volume of business which will be enjoyed in this district next year.

WORK COMPLETED ON ICE SKATING RINK THIS WEEK

Cold Weather Required to Assure Good Skating By Saturday

INSTALL FLOOD LIGHTS

Workmen Complete Task Of Removing Stones In Huge Bowl

Workmen on Truckee's new ice skating rink are completing their task this week and by tomorrow or Saturday night the circular bowl will be ready to flood with water, according to an announcement this week by C. Edmunds, manager of the winter sports.

The large mass of huge rocks and dirt have been removed from the big bowl and the concrete and rock wall, nearly 500 feet around has been completed. The skate house and warming room are not as yet finished, but it is expected they will be ready for occupancy in the near future.

Huge electric flood lights are being installed around the circle to properly illuminate the rink at night and everything is being done to add to the enjoyment of those who use the rink.

Providing the weather is cold enough, the ice will be ready for Saturday night, Edmunds said, although the past several warm days have cast a shadow of doubt on the possibility of early skating. By Thanksgiving, however, there is little question but that all will be in readiness.

The proposed work will include widening and surfacing the strip with plant-mixed material over a crushed rock base, according to C. H. Purcell, state engineer.

Bids were opened in Sacramento yesterday for the proposed paving of the highway from Soda Springs to the summit, but the award, if any, was not announced immediately.

BOCA TAVERN TO BE OPENED WITH FETE THIS WEEK

Bechtolt Announces Plans For Gala Program at Hirschdale

After several weeks of preparation, during which time the inn at Hirschdale has been completely renovated and remodeled, the new Boca Tavern, as the resort will be known, will be officially opened with a gala program Saturday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced this week by Carl Bechtolt, one of the proprietors of the new establishment.

A large dance floor, surrounded by tables and booths, will provide ample space for the large throng which is expected for the opening night's celebration. A four-piece orchestra has been engaged to supply the music. Bechtolt said nothing had been left undone to add to the pleasure and entertainment of the guests.

Climaxing the opening affair, it was announced by Bechtolt, an all-day turkey shoot will be held at the resort on Sunday.

Associated with Bechtolt, who also operates the Tahoe Inn, will be Joe Hirsch of Hirschdale and Joe Geiser of Reno.

JUNIOR FORESTER IS MARRIED TO EASTERN GIRL IN NEW YORK

Following Miss Hall's graduation from Stanford last year, she continued to reside in Palo Alto, leaving there several weeks ago. Mr. Flint left during the first part of this month for the nuptials.

The bride has visited in Nevada county where she has many friends in the younger set.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Flint of Oakland are the parents of the bridegroom. He attended the schools of Oakland and graduated from the College of Forestry of the University of California.

The letter, received by Mrs. Lotta Bryant, secretary of the chamber of commerce and turned over to Dan Smith, field representative for the Truckee Motion Picture association, indicates that a company of 100 people will want accommodations. The scenes according to the message must have sufficient snow to show a group of trucks snow-bound. Smith, who contacted the concern while recently in the south, is communicating with the company.

REBUILDING OF RESORT STARTED AFTER BIG FIRE

Richardson Starts Work on Rebuilding Camp on Lake Tahoe

Hardly had the embers cooled at Camp Richardson, following the $50,000 conflagration which swept the main buildings of the popular Lake Tahoe resort last week than the work of rebuilding was started by the owner, A. M. Richardson.

It is hoped to have the new hotel and store and other adjacent buildings, all of which were razed, replaced as soon as possible to provide for the influx of vacationists next spring.

The fire was one of the most costly that has hit the resort center for years. Believed to have started from defective electric wiring or an overheated stove, the blaze quickly spread and when discovered had made such headway that for a time it was feared the entire camp would be wiped out.

The fire started, according to the reports, shortly after the postmaster, Mrs. Susan Craig had returned to her cottage nearby after sorting the mail.

Ernest Pernelli, Standard Oil Co. truck driver, was the first to discover the disaster. He said he heard an explosion in the store and then saw the blaze. He summoned aid and Ranger Raleigh Brian and Guard Leland Hill, stationed at Meyers, were soon at the scene with a group of hastily summoned volunteer fire fighters. Their efforts were rewarded when the fire was checked an hour after they arrived.

Seven tame deer, housed near the blazing hotel were released and ran to safety although their quarters were destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson were at Fallon, Nevada, at the time, but were notified and went to the lake where they immediately made plans for rebuilding.

STEPS ARE TAKEN TO HAVE COUNTY LIBRARY PROGRAM

Parent Teachers Active Project to Gain Library

COST TO BE SMALL

Resolutions Request Board Adopt Budget for Institution

Steps are being taken here by a board of supervisors to persuade a sufficient number of resolutions and recommendations before the board of supervisors to persuade that august group to have a county library installed at Nevada City so that a branch may be brought to Truckee. Members of the Parent-Teachers association, sponsoring the campaign, the Wyethia club, the Truckee Chamber of Commerce and the local Lions club have all unanimously endorsed the project, according to Mrs. S. M. Richardson, one of the leaders of the plan.

In presenting the highlights of the proposed plans to the members of the chamber of commerce this week, Mrs. Richardson pointed out that already 47 counties of the state have free libraries, Nevada county being one of the few remaining that are without the obvious advantages afforded by such an institution.

Both Grass Valley and Nevada City have city maintained libraries which meet the requirements in that part of the county, but the outlying towns and communities are less fortunate and so must lead in a drive to have a county library established.

Mrs. Richardson said the cost to taxpayers would be very small, only one mill on each one dollar assessment being necessary for the establishment and maintenance of the library.

While it is not possible to have the library installed for several months, or before the budget is set for next year, much preliminary work is required and all local organizations and individuals interested in the plan are urged to lend all the support possible.

Ceremonial Planned By Camp Fire Girls

A NEW BEGINNING

Although the nation still echoes reverberations of the Roosevelt landslide, nevertheless enough time has passed, now, to make clear the spirit in which the people view that unprecedented phenomenon.

It is a spirit which reaffirms in no uncertain manner the basic, deeply-rooted character of American democracy. It is giving meaning to the statements exchanged between victorious candidate and the vanquished one on election night, statements which subsequent reactions could have proved mere formal, necessary but meaningless words. No one knew then. The antagonisms of the campaign had been sharp and bitter.

But today Landon's "Every American will accept the verdict, and work for the common cause of the good of our country," and Roosevelt's "I am confident that all of us Americans will now pull together for the common good," ring true in the light of an attitude now apparent everywhere.

Not that opposition to the present leadership is dead, or that it will not be vociferous, at times, in the near future. It will and should be so, since an active minority, offering constructive criticism, is the fire that tempers the steel the majority's leaders mold.

But with campaign bitterness gone, there is a new cooperation in deep, essential purposes, wherein the minority promises to abstain from willful sabotage, and the majority from ignoring the rights of the minority. May it always be thus.

In a sense, America is off to a fresh start in life, a new beginning, a clean new shot at continued prosperity and progress.

THEY CARRY THE MAIL

Probably the most unpraised, unsung and unappreciated enterprises in these United States is that ever faithful, ever functioning institution known as the postoffice.

It is high time that someone spoke a word for it, and it is, this month, an appropriate time as well. The first government post office was opened just 153 years ago in New York in November, 1783.

The only time we notice the post office particularly is when it makes a mistake, which is not very often, considering. But someday some enterprising movie producer will wake up to the exciting character and the exciting history of the postal service, and we will have a screen epic comparable to the best of Hollywood collozals.

With the swift, sure precision and uncanny accuracy of clock work, trucks, trains, ships and airplanes make split-second connections day in and day out, to keep the vast network of postal channels carrying the mail to John Q. Public.

California, you know, played a leading part in the most adventurous chapter in post office history - the Pony Express One day in April, 1860, the first riders between Sacramento and Missouri started from each place. And they rode like overzealous Paul Revers, changing horses every ten miles, using 420 in all.

Today your letters have the speed of wings. But the postal tradition, unchanged through the years, is still - the mail must go through.

THIS DEADLIEST NOVEMBER

As winter approaches and the rains and snows begin in California, wise motorists are remembering that slippery roads mean death to the unwary.

Reasons for extra caution in wet weather are obvious enough, but for any who might be inclined to doubt the laws of physics, there are also statistics.

Last year November was the deadliest month on the roads and streets of this state. There were 303 persons killed. December was next, with 301. The monthly average was 234.

To be on the safe side it is best to follow the suggestions made last week by the state highway patrol chief: see that the windshield wiper is in good condition and keep the windshield clean, replace badly worn tires, learn how to stop without skidding, adjust brakes and lights, keep window open for hand signals and avoid running on slippery rails.

California's accident record to date this year is appalling. By October 1 the toll was 2088 deaths, compared to 1945 on the same date of the previous year of record slaughter. No other state approaches this. New York was second with 1861 deaths.

When the year's final totals are counted, California will stand at the top of the nation's dishonor roll. It's too late now to avoid that disgrace. But it is not too late for extra caution to save many lives during the stormy and deadliest of months to come.

If you love life, remember this. Just one skid at the wrong moment, and quick as a flash it's all over forever.

Apparently the proposed program to have Commercial Row resurfaced and widened to include the dirt section between the sidewalks and present roadway has been forgotten. We have heard no more about it since just after it was started.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Formal opening of the $75,000,000 San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge occupied the attention of a number of prominent state officials this last week and marked the end of a busy fall period of campaigns and other activities which interfered with the biennial job of drawing up budgets for departments and highways.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam, central figure in the bay bridge opening ceremonies, planned to return to Sacramento afterward and spend most of his time from now on scanning budget requests and making general preparations for the legislature which convenes in January.

Merriam has insisted that all state departments under his control hold their budgets within the allowances permitted for the present biennium. If the budget is not increased and the revenues are left alone, the deficit will gradually be eliminated, he and his financial officers believe.

Finance Director Arlin E. Stockburger said no large budget increase had been requested by the departments thus far. Some small boosts have been asked, but generally the departments have cooperated in the drive to hold down the cost of the government.

The state highway commission is deep in the work of trying to make $30,000,000 cover requests for projects which would cost $100,000,000 or more. The complicated highway budget will be completed late in December for submission to the legislature the following month.

Strenuous efforts will be made to prevent the legislature from loading additional county roads onto the state system, unless all roads are turned over to the state and all gasoline tax revenue used to maintain them. The state cannot continue giving more gas tax money to the cities and counties and at the same time increase the size of the state highway system, the commissioners insisted.

Only a week needed to elapse before the election was almost forgotten in the capitol - except for those who went around collecting, or paying debts and some who continued trying to figure an answer other than the growing belief that President Roosevelt was a popular figure.

Republicans insisted it was not a Democratic landslide, but merely a Roosevelt landslide.

Considerable interest was being evinced in the 1938 gubernatorial situation, and politicians were beginning to talk, already, about the possibility of some democrat being built up to statewide prominence during the next two years.

It is believed rather generally that democrats would try to center on a southern Californian, to seize the heavy vote south of the Tehachapi, relying upon good part democrats in the north to support whichever candidate may be chosen.

Unless the popular candidate may be found, observers did not believe the democratic trend this year would necessarily guarantee a Bourbon gubernatorial victory in 1938.

A few legislative races were so close that the official canvass of the vote and the counting of absentee ballots must be concluded before the complete personnel of the legislature will be known.

It looked as though the democrats will have 46 or 47 in the assembly - a safe majority - and that they increased by eight their membership in the senate.

As a result of the defeat of Assemblyman Ralph Wallace in San Francisco, orators addressing the assembly next year will have to change their opening sentence to read "Ladies and gentlemen of the assembly," rather than "Miss Miller and gentlemen of the assembly."

Miss Eleanor Miller of Pasadena will have feminine company - Mrs. Jeanette E. Daley, San Diego lemo-crat.

Another woman candidate who made the grade in the primary was nosed out in the final contest. She is Adele Arbo, Los Angeles republican who lost to Cecil R. King, democrat, in the 67th district.

Wallace reportedly did not make himself very popular in his district when he voted "no" on the Townsend resolution which was hammered through both houses by the administration in 1935.

New State Buildings Will Cost Between Four-Five Millions

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000 is to be set up in the 1937-38 state budget for permanent buildings, or approximately the same amount as the current budget, according to Arlin E. Stockburger, state finance director.

A large part of the budgeted amount will be spent for construction of new units to relieve overcrowded conditions at the various state hospitals.

Stockburger also indicated the budget probably would include funds for a women's unit at the new Camarillo state hospital.

Bail in the case of E. E. Langfair, former Truckee resident, who has been charged with issuing checks without sufficient funds in the bank, has been fixed at $1000, according to word from Nevada City.

E. G. Hinds, complaining witness, and Charles B. White, manager of the Truckee branch of the Bank of America, were witnesses for the state and were called by District Attorney Vernon Stoll.

A similar and second charge awaits the outcome of the present case.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—A few years ago the state sent $75,000 to San Diego for construction of a state building on the exposition grounds.

Recently the state received - two plaster bears.

The bears, weighing 400 pounds each, were given positions of honor at the main entrance to state capitol park. The animals originally were cast for the exposition building at San Diego.

The bears have been named "Bud-

SANTA CLAUS DOES NOT RATE IN STATE INSURANCE GROUP

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Santa Claus, unquestionably a very popular individual at Christmas celebrations, may be somewhat disturbed to learn that he doesn't rate with the state unemployment insurance commission.

The commission so informed an Oakland department store which sought a classification for the Santas employed during the holiday season. No code number was listed in any of their books for such a job, the officials said.

Inquiry at the social security offices in Washington, D. C. proved of no avail. There was no Santa Claus in the list of classifications, at least according to the records.

Fog Caused Fire

Twelve Compton, Cal. families were driven from their homes for the second time in two weeks, when fire threatened a refining plant. The blaze was caused by low-lying fog, causing volatile gases to ignite, investigators said.

ODDLY ADDRESSED LETTER DELIVERED TO L. A. OFFICER

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Evidently Sacramento is becoming as well known in the middle western states as Los Angeles.

A letter received at the local post office was addressed only to "Floyd Hollowell, in or near Sacramento; was chief of police in or near Sacramento. Please find him." Postal authorities turned it over to Clarence S. Morrill, chief of the state division of criminal identification and investigation.

After an exchange of teletype messages, Morrill located Hollowell, a retired lieutenant of the Los Angeles police, residing in Arcadia.

favored by administration leaders.

The proposed department would include all agencies handling incoming state funds, providing a single unit for functions now scattered throughout the state government.

Such a unit, it is claimed, would be more efficient and, at the same time, permit a closer and more frequent check of accounts.

Support of Red Cross Is Urged by Governor In State Proclamation

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Enrollment in the Red Cross and active support of the organization was urged in a proclamation of Gov. Frank F. Merriam, designating November 11 to 16 as "Red Cross Days" in California.

"This association," said the proclamation, "is now engaged in reducing the appalling loss of life through preventable accidents, in providing relief to victims of disasters, and in promoting welfare work with the veterans and enlisted men of the army, navy, marine corps and the coast guard."

"In addition, the various chapters in the Pacific states are maintaining highway emergency first aid stations and mobile first aid units, thus making quickly available the services of trained personnel in emergencies."

"Moreover, many important policies are being outlined and measures adopted in connection with a general program of public health. Accordingly, the Red Cross merits the loyal support and cordial cooperation of all of our people."

Travel into California Shows Huge Gain For Nine Months in 1936

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Approximately 120,000 more visitors to California motored into the state in the first nine months of 1936 than in the like period a year ago, according to estimates by the state department of motor vehicles.

The figures were based on the number of non-resident automobiles checked in at border stations. For the first three-quarters of 1936 the out-of-state cars crossing the boundary totaled 167,445, an increase of 40,708 over the same months in 1935.

MARITIME STRIKE EFFECTS MILLS ON SACRAMENTO RIVER

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Work at rice mills and warehouses here and at points north on the Sacramento river has virtually ceased as a result of the coastwide maritime strike, a checkup revealed.

Because of the strike conditions local millers are unable to move the crop to markets in the Hawaiian islands and the far eastern countries. More than 300,000 sack of rice are in storage, it was estimated.
